Your desire to be closer to nature, to enjoy the sauna as our ancestors did, or a lack of interior space – there are many reasons why it can be better to have just the outdoor sauna situated in your garden or terrace.

Cooling down in an outdoor basin or in the snow in winter – all this is a welcome addition to using sauna which the sauna cabin can provide to you.

You can choose the equipment and the interior design according to the offered NATIVE, GRAND, MODUS, MODERN and FUTURE types.

We supply the outdoor saunas as the outdoor sauna cabins or as the solid timber buildings.

Move away from everyday worries and enjoy the warm balm in the infrared rays form. Your tired body will be warmed and relaxed, the blood circulation will gain strength and a pain will subside. Your body will get rid of toxins, your skin will be cleaned and regenerated. You will feel younger and more beautiful.

The infrared cabins have not dimensions as a conventional sauna sweating rooms. They are designed for 1 to 5 seated persons, and therefore they need a smaller space. The infrared cabins use the special infrared heaters for heat transfer. These heaters produce the infrared rays of different wavelengths, but the operating temperature of the air and the temperature of surrounding walls is lower. So the perception of heat is based here on rays impinging on your skin. Thanks to a smaller volume of space, the infrared cabins have less electric power and the rise time to the working temperature is just a few minutes.

The infrared cabins are most often used for warming up your muscles before physical exercise in fitness, for rehabilitation of the human movement system or for relaxation.
